MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. – Dec. 7, 2015 – ABILITY Network, a leading healthcare information technology company, announced today that Dave Flesher has joined the organization's management team as Senior Vice President of Strategic Partner Sales and Business Development.

In this role, Flesher will provide management and leadership for the growth of the ABILITY Partner program, delivered through the ABILITY | ACCESS™ platform. ABILITY Partners include insurance payers, revenue cycle management companies, clearinghouses and software vendors.

“Dave is a great addition to the ABILITY team,” said Bud Meadows, Chief Revenue Officer and Executive Vice President of ABILITY Network. “He will help drive initiatives that will allow our Partners to benefit from the unique assets that are part of the ABILITY Network. As ABILITY continues to grow, we are also diversifying our services along the continuum of healthcare. Dave’s extensive experience and leadership supporting customers in all areas of healthcare technology will be a tremendous benefit for us.”

Flesher joins ABILITY after 11 years at Optum, where he served most recently as national sales leader for all of the company's healthcare payer software and payment integrity solutions. Prior to that, Flesher held sales leadership roles with Johnson & Johnson's Wellness & Prevention, Inc. (formerly HealthMedia), and for 11 years with Truven Health Analytics (formerly Thomson Medstat).
